```
def first_word(text: str) -> str:
  new_text = text.replace(".", " ") new text = new text.replace(",", " ") new_text = new_text.strip(" ") result = new text.split(" ") return result[0]
if __name__ == '__main__':
   print("Example:")
   print(first word("Hello world"))
   # These "asserts" are used for self-checking and not for an auto-testing
   assert first word("Hello world") == "Hello" assert first word(" a word ") == "a" assert first word("don't touch it") == "don't"
   assert first word("greetings, friends") == "greetings" assert first_word("... and so on ...") == "and"
   assert first word("hi") == "hi"
   assert first word("Hello.World") == "Hello" print("Coding complete? Click 'Check' to earn cool rewards!")
```